SEE WILL AND KATE IN OTTAWA WITH KENSINGTON TOURS

Award Winning Tour Operator launches Canada Day with Will and Kate Package

Wilmington DE, June, 1, 2011 - If you didn't make it to London for the Royal Wedding and still want to see the newlyweds Duke and Duchess of Cambridge in person, award winning tour operator Kensington invites you to join them in Ottawa, Ontario on July 1st to celebrate the country's 144th birthday with their Canada Day with Will and Kate tour package.

William and Catherine will be taking part in what is expected to be the biggest Canada Day festivities the capital has ever seen. The royal couple is set to arrive at Parliament Hill at 12:07 p.m. and walk up the hill to take their place in the royal box to watch a Canada Day show featuring a line-up of the country's favourite performers. Prince William is scheduled to give a brief speech and Kate will conduct a walkabout through the crowd later that afternoon. There's no news as of yet whether they will be taking part in Canada's Biggest BBQ event, but the couple will be sticking around that evening for a fireworks display fit for the future King of England.

Kensington's customizable Will and Kate package starts at $1,170 per person and contains guided tours and activities that allow travelers to delve into the heart of Canada's capital. Led by expert private guide, they'll stroll the historic Rideau Canal, Parliament Hill, The National War Memorial and bustling ByWard Market. Next cruise through the city's famous highlights on a panoramic double decker bus tour. Featuring a luxury hotel located directly access the street from the Canada Day festivities, private airport transfers and more, there has never been a better time to visit Ottawa. www.kensingtontours.com/Canada-Day-With-Will-And-Kate .
